

I came across this web site of an exceptional individual who is also an exceptional modeler and technical devotee who shares his knowledge. On this particular site I came across more information on painting especially with an air brush. He does a great job describing a product he particularly likes, good brush techniques and the like. It is worth checking out his site.

<http://paulbudzik.com/tools-techniques/index.html>